SCROLL AGAINST THE FLOODING OF THE NATIONS AND THE JUDGMENT THAT BROUGHT IT

July 1, 2026

In the name of Yeshua HaMashiach, who is come in the flesh, who is Lord over every nation and every border and every movement of people across the earth — this scroll is released over Europe, the United States, and every Western nation that is being overwhelmed.

If my people, which are called by my name, shall humble themselves, and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways; then will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sin, and will heal their land. — 2 Chronicles 7:14

This is not a scroll against people. Every human being on the earth is made in the image of God regardless of where they were born or what colour they carry. This is a scroll against the mechanism. This is a scroll against the spiritual operation behind the flooding, the agenda driving it, and the sin that opened the door to it.

The pattern is in the scripture and it is not subtle. When Israel turned from God, the land was given over. When the people rejected the Lord and chased after other gods, He removed the hedge and the nations poured in. Not because the nations were evil by nature but because the hedge was earned by faithfulness and when faithfulness departed, the protection departed with it.

The LORD shall bring a nation against thee from far, from the end of the earth, as swift as the eagle flieth; a nation whose tongue thou shalt not understand. — Deuteronomy 28:49

The West rejected Yeshua. That is the root. Not immigration policy. Not economics. Not logistics. Europe had the gospel and Europe walked away from it. America was founded on covenant and America broke it. The churches emptied. The cathedrals became museums. The nations that once sent missionaries to the world decided they had outgrown God. And the hedge came down. Not because God is vindictive but because protection is covenantal and the West broke the covenant.

This scroll does not pretend the flooding is accidental. It is not accidental. It is engineered by men and it is permitted by the Lord as a consequence. The trafficking networks, the NGOs operating as ferries, the politicians who opened the borders without consent of the people, the globalist agenda that treats nations as obstacles and sovereignty as an inconvenience — all of it operates in the natural. But behind the natural is the spiritual. And the spiritual root is apostasy. A civilisation that rejected the light gets the darkness. That is not racism. That is Deuteronomy.

In the name of Yeshua, the apostasy is repented of. On behalf of the nations of the West — the rejection of Yeshua, the embrace of secularism, the worship of comfort, the sacrifice of children to convenience, the replacement of God with government, the removal of prayer from schools and scripture from public life — all of it is brought before the Lord in repentance. Not because this scroll can repent for a civilisation. But because someone must start. Someone must stand in the gap and say this was wrong and we ask for the hedge to be restored.

And I sought for a man among them, that should make up the hedge, and stand in the gap before me for the land, that I should not destroy it: but I found none. — Ezekiel 22:30

In the name of Yeshua, every trafficking network that moves people for profit is declared exposed and dismantled. Every hand that trades in human cargo — moving people across seas in boats that were never meant to carry them, packing people into lorries, marching them across borders in columns — every hand is declared cut off. The money behind it is declared dried up. The routes are declared closed. The operators are declared brought to justice in the natural and judged in the spiritual.

Every politician who opened a border for ideology or for money or for votes rather than for the genuine good of the people they serve is declared exposed. Their agreements are declared nullified. Their policies are declared reversed. Not by the will of man but by the hand of the Lord who sets up kings and brings them down.

In the name of Yeshua, the violence against the native people is addressed. The people who were born in their own land, whose ancestors built it, who walk their own streets — they have been attacked. Their children have been harmed. Their women have been threatened. Their elderly have been intimidated. In their own neighbourhoods, in their own towns, by people who were welcomed in and who repaid that welcome with contempt and violence.

Every spirit of conquest that has entered a nation disguised as migration is exposed. Every spirit that views the native population as weak, as targets, as infidels deserving of subjugation — it is bound and cast out in the name of Yeshua. The Lord does not honour the guest who raises his hand against the host. The Lord does not bless the one who takes shelter under a roof and then sets fire to it.

The native people are declared protected. Their children are declared safe. Their streets are declared restored to them. No weapon formed against them in their own land shall prosper. The hedge of protection is declared over every family, every school gate, every neighbourhood where the people of that land go about their lives.

And every leader who silenced the people's warnings, who called their fear bigotry while their communities changed beyond recognition around them — they are declared exposed and removed from authority. Their time is over. The people will be heard.

In the name of Yeshua, the people who have moved — the individuals, the families, the ones who came in genuine desperation and the ones who were sent as tools of an agenda they do not even understand — they are not the enemy. They are caught in a machine. This scroll does not curse them. This scroll declares that the machine is destroyed and that every person on the earth finds their place, their provision, and their peace in the land the Lord appointed for them.

And hath made of one blood all nations of men for to dwell on all the face of the earth, and hath determined the times before appointed, and the bounds of their habitation. — Acts 17:26

The Lord set the boundaries of the nations. He determined where people would dwell. That is not xenophobia. That is Genesis. That is Acts. That is the Lord's design. Nations exist because He made them. Borders exist because He set them. The deliberate erasure of those boundaries is not compassion — it is rebellion against the order He established. And it produces exactly what it is producing — tension, violence, cultural destruction, resentment, and suffering on all sides. Nobody is thriving in this. Not the nations being flooded and not the people being moved.

In the name of Yeshua, the violence that is rising is declared quenched. The tension between peoples is declared de-escalated. The rage that is building in the native populations — legitimate in its root but dangerous in its expression — is declared brought under the authority of the Lord before it produces bloodshed. Vengeance is His and He will repay. The anger of man does not produce the righteousness of God.

And the hatred that targets individuals — the person on the street harassed for their skin colour, the family threatened for existing, the person attacked for being visible — that hatred is declared cast out. It is not of the Lord. It serves the enemy's agenda because it divides the people who should be united against the actual architects of the destruction.

In the name of Yeshua, the West is called back to the Lord. The solution to the flooding is not a political party. It is not a policy. It is not a wall. It is repentance. When the people return to the Lord, the hedge returns. When the covenant is restored, the protection is restored. That is the pattern in scripture and it has never changed.

Turn ye unto me, saith the LORD of hosts, and I will turn unto you. — Zechariah 1:3

Every person who reads this scroll and lifts it to the Lord stands in the gap for their nation. They repent on behalf of a civilisation that will not repent for itself. They ask for the hedge. They ask for the borders to be restored to the Lord's design. They ask for the trafficking to end, the political corruption to be exposed, and the violence to be prevented. They ask for every person on the earth to dwell in the place the Lord prepared for them, in peace, in provision, and in the knowledge of Yeshua.

The flooding stops. The machine breaks. The hedge is restored. Not by politics. By prayer.

Amen and amen.
